DETAILED ACTIONDrawings

The drawings are objected to because they are not labeled in English. Correction is required.

Specification

The specification has been checked to the extent necessary to determine the presence of all possible minor errors. However, the applicant's cooperation is requested in correcting any errors of which applicant may become aware in the specification.

Claim RejectionsClaim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. Correction or clarification is required.

In claim 1, the description of the present invention is incomplete because the "input/output terminals", "error amplifier means" and "output means" are not connected to anything. Thus, the claimed canceling circuit may not perform the recited function. Also, what the "error voltage" on line 7, "1-type", "2-type", "input part", "load part", "noise suppression part", "substrate terminal" and "source voltage dependency" are, how the amplifier can amplifier can amplify the error voltage for the reference voltage, how the noise suppression part can be “fabricated” in different dimension and how this limitation is read on the preferred embodiment or seen on the drawings. The recitation “the output voltage” on line 12 lacks clear antecedent basis. The same is true for claim 2.

In claim 2, the recitation “source terminal” and “means” is confusing because it is unclear if these are additional “terminals” and “means” or further recitation of the previously claimed “terminals” and “means” in claim 1 and it is unclear how the recitation of “terminals” and “means” is read on the preferred embodiment or seen on the drawing. The description is incomplete because the terminals and the means are not connected to the means recited in claim 1. Thus, the claimed canceling circuit may not perform the recited function.

In claim 3, the recitation “the absolute values” on line 2 and “the polarity” on lines 6 and 7 lacks clear antecedent basis. It is not understood what the “values”, “voltage dependent coefficient”, “polarity” and “power voltage change” are.

In claim 4, it is unclear where the capacitance comes from.

In claim 5, it is not understood how the bias current generation circuit can be “omitted” and the reference voltage generation circuit can “serve” as the bias current generation circuit.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 1-5 would be allowable if rewritten or amended to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph, set forth in this Office action.

These claims are allowed because the prior art of record fails to suggest the error amplifier having connections as combined in claim 1.
